CHARRED BODY FOUND IN RUINS

Greely Ferguson Burns to Death in
Small House at County Poor
Asylum Early Today

BODY HORRIBLY DISFIGURED

Whether Fire Was Accidental or
Suicidal Will Never Be Known.
Had Talked of Suicide

Greely Ferguson, 56 years old, met with a horrible death early this morning at the county asylum when in some unknown manner the small frame shack in which he was sleeping caught fire and the blazing walls collapsed before aid could reach him. Mr. Ferguson was literally burned to pieces and his charred body was almost beyond recognition.

Mr. Ferguson was a well known character here for years, being a tailor by trade. For the last several months he had suffered from cancer and had been an inmate of the county asylum since last October when he went there that he might receive better care. Because of his condition he was given a small house away from the other inmates. The fire was discovered about two-thirty o'clock this morning by one of the inmates and A. N. Newbold, the superintendent was called.

By the time Mr. Newbold and others reached the building the place was a mass of flames and scarcely was the door unlocked when the walls and ceiling collapsed and buried Ferguson in the flames. His body was not taken from the ruins until this morning. Both legs and arms were burned off and the body was badly charred.

Whether the fire was accidental or suicidal will probably never be known, but the inmates state that he had talked of suicide several times. It did not surprise Mr. Newbold as it had been necessary to keep a close watch on Ferguson for some time, because the superintendent was afraid he would do himself bodily harm. There was a small stove in the house used by Ferguson and while the blaze could have been accidental, the supposition is that it was not.

Ferguson had been in a serious condition for some time and that he should attempt suicide to end his horrible suffering would seem only natural, it is declared. Mr. Ferguson had lived here all his life and was known as an eccentric character. For a time the fire threatened to spread to the surrounding buildings and the fire department here was notified. The department was ready to go there if any of the buildings caught fire.

Mr. Ferguson is survived by one brother, Elwood Ferguson, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Kate Youse, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Cicero Matlock of Kokomo, Ind. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the chapel and burial took place in East Hill cemetery.

FALSE ALARM.

The fire department answered a false alarm from box 46, corner of Seventh street and the Big Four railroad Saturday night at eleven o'clock. The company made a fast run but there was nothing doing. The door of the box was found open, as usual.

RESOLUTION PASSES.

A resolution introduced in the state house of representatives Saturday by Representative W. R. Jinnett of this county inviting John Hays Hammond and Dr. John Hill, noted peace advocates, to address the house during their short stay in Indianapolis this week, was passed by the house.

FIRE IS "NIPPED IN BUD"

Men Passing Mrs. Ridlen's House in Arlington Put Out Blaze.

Fire which was discovered in the home of Mrs. John Ridlen in Arlington last Friday afternoon was extinguished before much damage was done. The three-year-old child of Mrs. Ridlen spilled kerosene on the floor and it ignited. The flames spread rapidly but Romeo McFall and Emory Warfield, who chanced to be passing at the time, put out the fire. The wall paper in one room was damaged by water but loss due directly to the fire was very slight.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Samuel Sheppard, Age 69 Years, Expires Suddenly Sunday Morning Hour After He is Stricken

IN RUSHVILLE LAST FRIDAY

Samuel Sheppard, 69 years old, a well known resident of Arlington, died suddenly Sunday morning at three o'clock at his home there from a cerebral hemorrhage. His sudden death came as a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Sheppard was up and about as usual Saturday and was in this city last Friday. He appeared to be in his usual health Saturday night. He was stricken about two o'clock Sunday morning and died an hour later.

Mr. Sheppard was a member of Company G, Fifty-Second Indiana Volunteers and served throughout the Civil war. Mr. Sheppard is survived by one daughter, Miss Anna Sheppard, who lived with him. The funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the Arlington Methodist church and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery there.

BUYS UP OLD GAS, HEAT AND WATER CO.

Louis C. Lambert Acquires Property for Large Sum of $60.30 at Delinquent Tax Sale.

FRANCHISE STILL IN FORCE

Louis C. Lambert is now the owner, manager, board of directors—in fact, the whole works—of the Rushville Gas, Heat and Water Company. He became owner of this high sounding company this morning at the delinquent tax sale conducted by the county treasurer. The property, which is better known as the old artificial gas company, brought $60.30 at the delinquent tax sale. The gas plant has been idle for many years, but may be a valuable piece of property some day. The franchise, which is perpetual, is still in force.

The sale of property for the taxes, which have not been paid, was the smallest ever held in the history of the county. There were just four pieces offered for sale and Mr. Lambert bought the entire lot. Outside of the gas plant the total sale amounted to only $49.03, which included the delinquency and penalties.

HE URGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

Judge Will M. Sparks Delivers Charge to Grand Jury in Most Vigorous Fashion Today.

WHERE RESPONSIBILITY REST

Refers Especially to Liquor Law Violations in County—Grand Jury Convenes at Once.

Judge Will M. Sparks made a most vigorous charge to the grand jury this morning when the investigating body was called before him. Judge Sparks called particular attention to liquor law violations not only in Rushville but in other parts of the county. After appearing before the judge, the grand jury immediately went into session. What particular things they were investigating could not be learned.

After giving the usual instructions about the duty of the grand jury, Judge Sparks referred to the enforcement of law with regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors. He said conditions in Rushville were bad at the present time. He said that they were much worse than they should be.

He called attention to the fact that the grand jury is not responsible for the law any more than the court is. He pointed out that the laws were passed by the legislature and that the grand jury had nothing to do with the policy of the law. It is simply the duty of the grand jury, he asserted, to enforce the law as they found it.

Judge Sparks said that the grand jury was a part of the court and that it was the duty of the grand jurors to carry out their oath with respect to enforcement of the law. He declared that the responsibility rests just as heavily on the grand jury as it does on the judge.

"I do not know," continued the judge, "whether or not any of you have children, but if you have, you should be interested in Rushville being a clean, decent place for them to visit. If you have no children of your own, you should have the welfare of other people's children at heart. You should also see that the law is enforced on account of your interest as good citizens."

Judge Sparks did not mince words when he gave his instructions. He delivered them in most vigorous fashion, leaning over the top of his desk as he spoke.

It was believed that the grand jury, among other things, would investigate the alleged theft of a wallet containing $180 in twenty dollar bills and notes aggregating four hundred dollars from Martin Kelley December 18, 1914. Brown is now in jail charged with the theft. He was arrested Saturday on an affidavit filed in the circuit court which charged him with the theft.

The members of the grand jury are: U. S. Maffett and Cliff Brown of Rushville township, Isaac Dearinger of Orange, John Ricketts of Noble, R. B. Cook, Jr., of Union and Charles M. Phillips, of Posey, the foreman. Tom Scanlan was appointed bailiff by the court.

MASONIC MEETING.

Phoenix Lodge, No. 62 F. and A. M. will hold their regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30. All members are urged to attend as there is business of importance to transact.

Tanahaymakers Association No. 1021 will take in a tramp tonight at 8 p. m. Good attendance is desired.

SALOONS ARE SERMON TOPICS

Two Ministers Discuss Difference Between "Wet" and "Dry" City in Pulpits Sunday.

NO COMPROMISE, SAYS ONE

A. D. Batchelor Declares, in Commenting on Text, Wages Put in Saloon Bags Are Wasted.

Two Rushville ministers discussed the temperance question in their sermons Sunday. The Rev. A. D. Batchelor of St. Paul's M. E. church points to the business side of the "wet" and "dry" question, in view of the fact that a local option election is likely to be called here soon.

The Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, in discussing the liquor question, declared that the "wets" reach their conclusions by false comparisons. He said that a saloon town was likened with the "blind tiger" town when such should not be the case.

The Rev. C. M. Yocom, speaking on "Indifference" at the Main Street Christian church, declared that indifference was not unbelief. Excerpts from the sermons follow:

First Baptist

The Rev. S. G. Huntington preached on the temperance question at the First Baptist church Sunday night at seven o'clock. He said in part:

May I ask why the saloon? It is very clear why the grocery store, the dry goods store, the hardware store, the bakery, the flour mill and so on down the line. We all see the necessity of these. But when it comes to the saloon where is the man who dares say that it, too, is a necessity? If the saloon is a necessity then the opium den then is likewise a necessity. Both are impious frauds, both are a ranking menace to society, both are parasites that live upon the souls of men and both are open gateways leading to the asylum, the penitentiary, the gallows and the electric chair.

True, there are other evils in the world besides the saloon but none its equal. Banish the liquor traffic from our midst and the top root of crime's greatest support will have been severed. Why then the saloon, I ask again? There is no legitimate reason for it at all. If it were possible to separate "graft" and "easy money" from the hellish business it would go begging for promoters.

The liquor business, however, has grown to gigantic proportions in this country. So much so, in fact, that it yields a mighty influence in elections and the enforcement of law; a fact every city, more or less, has learned to its sorrow. Terre

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

The damage suit of Frank Richardson colored, against Walter Duke, was dismissed over a week ago, but the fact did not become generally known until today. The case was quietly dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The costs have not yet been paid, however. The case was the outgrowth of the shooting of Richardson by Duke and $3,000 damages was demanded because of the injury.

ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gantner have returned from Pittsboro where they attended the funeral Saturday of her cousin William Lewis. Mr. Lewis was extensively related in Rush county. He was seventy-one years old and was the last of that branch of the Lewis family of which John Lewis, a revolutionary soldier, was the head.

Haute standing out as a marked example of this.

Rushville is now a "dry" town by the voice of the people. Certainly it is a pity that "blind tigers" have been allowed to operate and the good cause of temperance reflected upon thereby. Resultant, therefore, of "blind tiger" operations and the odium naturally follows in their wake the saloon element has naturally assumed the right to brand the efforts of the temperance people a failure and declare the open saloon a credit to present conditions. Of course, that is not a true statement of the case though admittedly a very unfortunate condition does exist. But it is a condition that "wets" themselves, and not the "drys," are responsible for and that too, in defiance of the law. For a war cry, however, the "wets" must have something, so they have coined the phrase, "It's better 'wet' than 'dry'" meaning by that, better an open saloon than a "dry" town with

WINS FIGHT IN THE HOUSE TODAY

Republican Floor Leader Gets Bill Through to Keep Auto License Tax in the County.

POINTS TO HEAVY EXPENSE

Bill For Abolition of Capital Punishment is Reported Favorably—Bill Favoring Saloons.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—Representative Jesse Eschbach, Republican floor leader, won a fight in the house today for his bill providing that automobile license taxes shall be collected and remain in the counties where the owners reside. The majority report of the committee favoring the bill was substituted for the minority report by a vote of 56 to 24. Attempts of foes of the bill to adjourn was defeated.

Representative Sare of Bloomington, representing Brown and Monroe counties, declared that it was right that Brown should get back more automobile taxes than it puts in because motorists from Indianapolis and other counties use its roads.

"We are not very rich in southern Indiana," pleaded Representative Habermel, opposing the bill.

"When I introduced this bill I did not know which counties pay more than they get back," said Eschbach. "My motive was purely one of economy."

"It cost the state $31,000 to collect $151,000 in the first month of the operation of the present system; $50,000 to collect $429,000 in 1914. The cost would be saved by collecting the tax in the counties."

"By having a permanent license place with only the year number changing, seventy-five per cent of the cost would be saved."

The bill incidentally would take away some patronage from Secretary of State Cook.

The McCormick bill for the abolition of capital punishment was reported favorably by a house committee.

The Cleary bill for the preservation of ballots for six months after an election was reported favorably by the house elections committee today.

The number of days during which saloons could be open would be increased by a bill introduced by Representative Branaman, Democratic floor leader, today. It would remove New Year's day, Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday and Discovery day from the list of legal holidays.

A bill of Representative Mc Clas-

DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL TODAY

With Arrival of Two Senators, See Chance of Winning Whenever Roll Call Comes.

EXTRA SESSION LOOMS BIG

(By United Press.)

Washington, Feb. 8—Administration leaders in the senate ship purchase fight were delighted today at the arrival of Senator Smith of South Carolina. They had given up hopes of seeing him. Senator Newlands of Nevada also reached the battle line today, completing the Democratic side of the senate.

The Democrats were ready this afternoon for a vote whenever they could force one. Even on the motion of the bolting Democrats to send the bill back to a hostile committee they were ready for a roll call. On this motion Senator Kenyon was pledged to vote with the Republicans and a roll call would therefore stand 48 to 48 with the vice-president deciding.

How to Fix Up the Home

By custom February has become one of the great furniture buying months of the year.

Factories and stores offer special inducements to purchasers.

The volume of business is large.

Naturally with the sales of furniture are many disposals of rugs, china, carpets and other household goods.

These February furniture sales are a tribute to the immense power of newspaper advertising.

They were built up with aggressive merchandising and vigorous publicity.

A dull month was made one of the busiest of the merchandising year.

OHIO WOMAN'S DROPSY CURED!

Tells Everybody How This Happy Result as Produced.

Dear Editor:—For a long time I had been suffering from dropsy. I had puffy pouches under my eyes. My feet, ankles and abdomen were swollen to twice their natural size and a finger pressure on the swelling left a white dent which remained for some time. This water often pressed against my heart and caused a smothering sensation. I had severe headaches, continuous backache, dizzy sensations and rheumatic pains throughout my entire body. The kidneys were off in their action and this poison backed up in my system. In spite of my doctoring and the taking of many remedies I obtained no relief.

Finally I was given a few Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets, the new scientific prescription. These did me such good that I got a larger size and in a week's time all the swelling, backache, and other symptoms left me like magic. I now feel like a new woman. Lloyd's Tablets deserve all the credit for curing me of the trouble and ridding me of the terrible agony. I advise all to be sure and get from their druggists today, Lloyd's, the kind that cured me and cleanse their kidneys before too late.

IS A VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Theodore Potter, Many Years Leader in Fight Against White Plague, Dies of it

HE STUDIED IN GERMANY

Contracted Dread Disease at Time When a Patient Demanded his Constant Attention

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—Dr. Theodore Potter for many years the leader in the fight against the white plague in Indiana, today died of the dread disease himself. Dr. Potter contracted tuberculosis at a time when a patient demanded his continual attendance. He was fifty-four years old.

"He saved others; himself he cannot save."

Dr. Theodore Potter saved hundreds of lives from the white plague but finally succumbed to the dread disease himself. In nearly every city of the middle west are those whom tuberculosis all but claimed, but who attribute their health to Dr. Potter. While he lay dying his patients were so insistent asking for treatment that it was found necessary to disconnect the home telephone. Unable to allow his own advice, he could not throw off the disease.

With his last breath Dr. Potter continued his fight against disease. He beckoned Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis, and in a barely audible voice said: "Go out and preach prevention."

Probably Dr. Potter has come into contact with more cases of this disease than any other man in the Mississippi Valley. He studied in Germany the Koch theory that this was a germ disease and therefore preventable.

Republican Activity.

When before in the political history of Indiana were candidates for delegates to a party's state convention in the field more than a year in advance of that convention? This is a common question among Republicans.

Reports are being received at Republican state headquarters in Indianapolis almost daily regarding the activity of candidates for delegates to the next Republican state convention. In one precinct in one eastern Indiana county it is said that six Republicans have already passed the word among their neighbors that they would like to be chosen delegates to the next Republican state convention. The convention seems strong over the state that the next Republican convention will be the

DEATH RATE IN COUNTY HIGHER

Annual Report on Mortality in United States, Made by Census Bureau, Reveals This Fact

14.1 PER THOUSAND SOULS

Lowest Death Rate Ever Shown in United States Was in 1912 When it Fell to 13.9

Washington, Feb. 8.—The annual report on mortality in the United States, relating to the calendar year 1913, which is soon to be issued by Director Harris, of the Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, will show a death rate of 14.1 per 1,000 estimated population in the registration area of the United States, a slight increase as compared with the rate for 1912. The report was outlined by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, formerly connected with the division of vital statistics, Bureau of the Census, and was prepared under the direction of Richard C. Lappin, of that division.

Reports are being received at Republican state headquarters in Indianapolis almost daily regarding the activity of candidates for delegates to the next Republican state convention. In one precinct in one eastern Indiana county it is said that six Republicans have already passed the word among their neighbors that they would like to be chosen delegates to the next Republican state convention. The convention seems strong over the state that the next Republican convention will be the

The total number of deaths (exclusive of stillbirths) in the registration area, which now contains about two-thirds of the population of the United States, was 890,848. The lowest rate ever shown in the bureau's reports was that for 1912, which was 13.9 per 1,000. There has been a marked, though not continuous, decline in the death rate since 1880, when it was 19.8 per 1,000 based on the deaths among 17 per cent of the country's population.

The registration area of the United States, as constituted for the year 1913, consists of 24 states (in one of which, North Carolina, the registration is restricted to municipalities which had 1,000 population or over in 1900), the District of Columbia, and 41 cities in nonregistration states. The states and cities makgreatest political gathering ever held in the state.

In a number of the districts well known Republicans have already announced their candidacy for delegate to the next Republican national convention. This is true of the Ninth, Fifth and Second districts and it is said that several well known Republicans in other districts are busy getting their bearings with the idea of shying their hats into the ring.

Members of the Republican state organization look on these developments as a most healthful sign. The realization that the contests are to be "free-for-all" with a spirit of "may the best man win" prevailing is expecting to make the rivalry for delegations in every district keen but friendly.

ing up this area are those whose registration of deaths has been accepted by the Bureau of the Census as being fairly complete (at least 90 per cent of the total number of deaths,) and from which transcripts of the death certificates recorded under the state laws or municipal ordinances were received by the Bureau of the Census.

The estimated population of the registration area in 1913 was 63,298,718. It has grown from six-tenths of 1 per cent of the total land area of the United States in 1880 to 38.6 per cent in 1913, and the proportion of the population living in it has increased from 17 per cent in 1880 to 65.1 per cent in 1913.

Comparative figures for foreign countries are not available for 1913 but in 1912 the only important countries or provinces having lower death rates than the United States were Norway (13.4 per 1,000), England and Wales (13.3), Denmark, (13), the Province of Ontario (12.4) Holland (12.3), Australia (11.2), and New Zealand (8.9).

Following are the death rates per 1,000 population in 1913 for the states included within the registration area: California, 14.5; Colorado, 11.5; Connecticut, 15; Indiana, 13.3; Kentucky, 13.3; Maine, 15.3; Maryland, 16.2; Massachusetts, 15; Michigan, 13.9; Minnesota, 10.4; Missouri, 12.5; Montana, 12; New Hampshire, 17.1; New Jersey, 14.3; New York, 15; North Carolina (figures relate only to municipalities having a population of 1,000 or over in 1900), 16.8; Ohio, 13.8; Pennsylvania, 14.6; Rhode Island, 15; Utah, 11; Vermont, 15.8; Virginia, 13.9; Washington, 8.5; Wisconsin, 11.5.

The lowest death rate shown by any registration state was that for Washington (8.5 per 1,000), while New Hampshire's rate (17.1) was the highest. The fact that the average age of Washington's population is much lower than that of New Hampshire's doubtless constitutes the chief reason for this difference; and a like explanation holds good in many similar cases.

meeting held in the assembly room of the court house. Officers were elected, with the exception of the board of directors, and they will be named at a meeting to be held in the near future. Denny Ryan heads the organization as president, Don Cassidy is vice-president, Allen Ihner is secretary and H. G. Hackman was elected treasurer.

The stock company idea of operating the ball team met with approval and the crowd of fifty fans attending the meeting were greatly enthused over the prospects. Big Ed Davidson was selected to manage the club from the playing end and he assured the fans and stockholders that the team would be the best ever had in Rushville.

As an inducement to the fans and to get more people interested it was decided that the stock of the club would sell for five dollars a share and in this way extend the membership to three or four hundred if possible. Over one hundred stock holders were assured yesterday and with the stock at 5 dollars a share this number is expected to be doubled in a few days.

It was believed that the more members the better. The capital stock of the club was placed at $1,000 and if sufficient numbers are secured this will be increased. It was decided to have five directors and they are to be elected at a meeting subject to the call of the president.

Denny Ryan, the president, is not unknown to the fans of the city as he has always took an active interest in baseball. The other officers of the association are well known and the association will be conducted in a business like manner.

A campaign for more members was started this morning and with the club assured under the stock company plan, work will start on the park and improvements just as soon as the weather will permit. Mark Purcell acted as chairman of the meeting yesterday. The proposed plan was explained to the fans. The proposition is to operate the club under a co-operative plan and every stock holder will be interested in the club. It was believed that no one man could successfully operate the club and with two or three hundred people behind it the association will be bound to have a successful season.

Davidson proved to be a good manager last year and has already signed up some good players. He announced yesterday that he had landed Earl Verdenberg, a big right-hander to do the bulk of the pitching this year. Verdenberg was with the Richmond club last season and is said to be the real article. Bob Goodfellow will do the catching. Hellmund, Cores and Humpty Balde will be the outfield. George Rohe, former Chicago White Sox player, will play third base and captain the team. Hasselback will play short. A new second baseman and probably a first baseman will be secured. Sandman, who played first last year is holding out for more money and Big Dave this doesn't go with him and that he had another man in line just as good as Sandman.

The officers and stockholders took hold of the proposition with much spirit yesterday President Ryan started papers circulating over the city today for additional stockholders and it is hoped to have the organization fully completed in a few days.

"blind tigers." Therefore, whenever you meet a "wet" with gusto he will tell you "Oh, it's better 'wet' than 'dry'" and he seems to think that settles the question.

But let us suppose for the moment that this distorted argument were really sound. Even then, if it proves anything, it is that both the saloon and the "blind tiger" are bad, and that one may be worse than the other. It does not prove that either should exist. Therefore, confessing in this, as the liquor traffic virtually does, that the saloon is bad, and then claiming that the "blind tiger" is worse, they being the promoters and guardians of both, like a boomerang this club of theirs, "It's better

'wet' than 'dry,'" their supposed weapon against a "dry" town, returns to smite them in the face. Thus, the saloon having been abolished in Rushville, undaunted, the liquor element next proceeds to defy flagrantly the law, adopt tactics more demoralizing than are those peculiar to the open saloon and set up a sort of guerrilla warfare, a bushwhacking campaign, and propagate a system of "blind tigers" and a "bootlegging" business that will simply turn the town upside down. And after this they now come forward and boast what they have done, for say they "it's better 'wet' than 'dry'" a fair sample of the liquor traffic throughout and its regard for law and order!

For the saloon element to deny they are responsible for "blind tigers," that worse state of affairs, as they claim, and certainly it is bad, would be much like old Lucifer denying that it was uncomfortably hot down in the infernal regions. Surely we are not expected to think that Gabriel or the Cherubim of the glory world are "bootlegging" whiskey in Rushville or that immortal saints have returned to operate "blind tigers" in our fair city!

The "wets" reach their conclusions by comparisons. Not a comparison, however, between a strictly "dry" town and a saloon town, but between a "blind tiger" town and a saloon town. They do not so much as give a "dry" town, the kind "dry's" contend for, a place in their thoughts. All they seem to think is that people have to drink, a position true temperance denies and a position that is untenable and absurd.

The "wets" are not satisfied with a "dry" town filled with "blind tigers." They believe in law enforcement. They demand a "dry" town kept "dry." This is their objective point, their ideal, and who would be so reckless as to say that a saloon town or a "blind tiger" town in comparison could come within a thousand miles of such a town for a high standard of citizenship and good morals?

No, Mr. Liquor Man, there is no compromise on this question. Saloons and "blind tigers" are both demoralizing and the good people of Rushville do not propose to suffer either in their midst.

St. Paul's M. E.

Last night at St. Paul's Methodist church the Rev. A. D. Batchelor spoke on the business aspects of the temperance issue. The text was Haggai 1:6, "He earneth wages to put into a bag filled with holes."

He said in part: The text has a forcible illustration in the liquor business. Wages put into the saloon bag are worse than wasted. They purchase there no productive commodity for the spender. Besides it is no economic loss to the community. It withdraws money from the channels of reputable business. Saloons then, cheat merchants out of a part of their profits. A New England manufacturer marked 700 ten dollar bills when he paid his men off on Saturday night. Monday morning 400 of these bills were deposited in the banks by the saloon keepers. If this had been in Maine or Kansas the bills would have been deposited by merchants or by the wage earners themselves. Saloons do not help business. They hurt it.

I know of a grocer who had for a customer a former drinking man. This man had been paying his bill promptly each Saturday night and receiving credit for the coming week. This was because the saloons had been driven out. One day the saloons came back. The next Saturday night he went into the grocery and asked for the usual credit. But he did not pay his bill. He did not have the money. The saloon had his wages. The grocer understood it. He refused the credit. Whom did the saloon hurt? It hurt the grocer for one. His sales were less. His past bills were not so promptly paid.

I know of a man who spent nearly all of his wages each Saturday night in the saloon. Then he and his wife would go to the meat market to get their Sunday meat. The butcher who told this incident said they would ask for the poorest cut of meat in the shop. But after drink was put out of that town this man and his wife bought the best cuts of meat, and plenty of it. Did it hurt the butcher's trade when the saloons were put out of that town?

I know of a physician who was treating the family of a man who had been accustomed to drinking. After the saloons were driven out this man paid something each week on his bill. When the saloons were voted back he paid the next week only half as much as before. The second week he paid nothing. He did not even go around to explain to the physician why. This physician who had inclined to the wet side on the ground of "personal liberty" was suddenly converted to the "dry" theory.

The saloon is after the wages in the community. In the city of Gary a Milwaukee brewery erected a business block with four business rooms. In each room it placed a saloon. An Italian was put in charge of one, a Jew of another, a German of a third and a Hungarian of the fourth. What was the purpose of this strange arrangement? It was to get the wages of the foreigners who worked in the steel mills. Merchants who vote for the return of the saloon vote for increased competition for the wages of the city. Aside from its moral aspects, the saloon as a pure business proposition is undesirable.

It is argued that the abolition of saloons increases the tax rate. This is false and cannot be supported by a single fact. If it were true, the more saloons a county had the lighter would be the taxes. But it is a fact that everywhere saloons increase, taxes correspondingly increase. Speaking generally there is about one convict to 1500 population in dry territory. In wet territory there is one convict to every 500. Then the tax payers in wet territory are charged with the court and jail expenses of three times the number of convicts. There are about 23 men in your county farm. Your superintendent told me the other day that all but five of these were there on account of drink. He said it would be a great help to him if the saloons were kept out of Rushville. One man out there once owned a farm of 80 acres and had $3,000 in money besides. The saloons got all of this, and left the man in poverty, and a charge upon the community, for the taxpayers to feed and otherwise care for. Surely such matter is an economic loss to the community. It is like dropping wages into a bag filled with holes.

The saloon robs a man of his spending money so that it is the same as if his pocket was full of holes. The drunkard drops all of his wages into the saloon bag. I know of a man who was a confirmed drunkard and who spent all he could get for drink. He was an expert printer and could make good wages. One day the saloons were voted out of that city. Previous to this the manager had been sending him out to get change for bills. Soon after the saloon were out he was sent on the same errand. But the man did not go. He did not have to go. He said "I have the change in my pocket;" and forthwith he produced the correct change. What made the difference? Hitherto the saloons got every nickel and dime he could find. With the saloons out he became sober and saved his money and had money in his pocket. With money saved and change in his pocket he could buy shoes and meat and groceries and other necessities. Thus his wages would not be wasted but spent in productive trade.

When a man does not spend his wages in a saloon bag filled with holes. The saloon robs a man of his spending money so that it is the same as if his pocket was full of holes. The drunkard drops all of his wages into the saloon bag. I know of a man who was a confirmed drunkard and who spent all he could get for drink. He was an expert printer and could make good wages. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading.

Samuel A. Brown, R. R. No. 10, Rushville, says: "I had a severe attack of backache and it got worse every day. Finally, the trouble got so bad that I could hardly raise my foot above the ground. When I stooped, I thought my back would break. Someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. I was very much surprised at the prompt way in which they stopped the trouble. In a few days I was free from pain."

I WAS RUN DOWN, NERVOUS AND WEAK

Cause? Chronic Cough—A Friend Advised Me to Take Vinol—I Did—It Made Me Well and Strong.

Jennings, La.—"I was run-down, nervous, weak, dizzy, and tired all the time as a result of a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for months. I have four in my family, and I was not able to do my daily housework. All the different medicines I had taken failed to do me any good until a friend told me about Vinol. I took it and within a month I felt so well and strong I could do my own housework. I would advise all weak women to take Vinol."—Mrs. A. FREYOU, Jennings, La.

Why will women in this vicinity continue to drag along day in and day out, all run-down, pale, thin, nervous, weak and all tired out when we are continually publishing letters from hundreds of reliable women which prove how Vinol overcomes such conditions and creates strength.

We ask every weak, nervous, run-down man or woman to come to our store and get a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, and if it fails to help you, we will return your money.

holes he will be able to make better provision for his family. Reliable statistics associate poverty of the direct kind with the liquor business.

A large per cent of poverty is directly traceable to drink. This means that a burden of charity is placed upon the community by the saloon. While a poor weak drunkard is spending all his wages with the saloon, good people in the community are feeding and clothing his family. I know of a man who was a hard drinker. He spent $5.00 a week with the saloon. After 98 weeks with the saloons out he figured that he had saved $490. With this he bought clothes, shoes and food. He confessed that after this when he went home to his little family he did not find them peeping out at the window or around the corners of the house to see whether he was crazed with drink, but that they met him with outstretched arms. This same man also said, "If anyone thinks I want the saloons back, they can find my wish in the ballot box." I know of a man in Montana, where I used to live, who spent nearly all his wages with a certain saloon keeper. One day this saloon keeper told him how much money he deposited in the bank each day. This made the drinker think. He said to himself, "Why cannot I deposit my own money and to my own credit, instead of giving it to the saloon keeper to deposit to his credit?" Henceforth he cut out the drink, and began to save his wages. A friend who told me the incident asked him what effect this had upon his wife, "Why," he said "she is so happy since I quit. When I go home and she sees me she just laughs and laughs." When we think about this temperance proposition we discover that it has its business reasons. Governor Stubbs of Kansas said in regard to statutory prohibition in his state, "Reason was at the bottom of it. As a result the Kansas people are better fed, better clothed, have finer homes, larger families and better bank accounts." Instead of putting their wages into a "bag filled with holes," they save them in Kansas and use them to better purpose.

Main Street Christian

Speaking on the subject "Indifference" and using as a text Rev. 3:16 the Rev. C. M. Yocum said in part at the Main Street Christian church yesterday:

Indifference is not opposition. The indifferent are not opposed to the church and its mission. They would resent any such accusation as that. Indeed indifference has not enough energy to oppose. It sits idly by and is satisfied no matter which way the wind blows.

Indifference is not unbelief. The indifferent are often sticklers for doctrine. The indifferent are not necessarily sinful in the usual acceptance of that term. They may be morally free from taint and be clean and pure.

Indifference is a lack of positive interest in the church and its welfare. He is indifferent who is unconcerned, apathetic, heedless. I go to find a sack of grain to plant in a field. I find one full of filth and one empty. One is sinful, the other indifferent. Both are worthless. God wants good seed to sow in his field. He can use neither the vile nor the empty. I do not say each is equally bad; I say each is equally worthless.

Indifference makes the church stagnant. Opposition causes the church to grow. It has always been so. The persecutions at Jerusalem were responsible for the spread of the early church. Apposition causes the blood to boil, the nerves to tingle, puts us on edge and develops us. But indifference makes the church apathetic and stagnant. A church fired by foes without will grow and become mighty; filled with indifference within it stagnates, becomes useless and dies. Useless things always die. It is a law of life that we must use or loose. There are numerous scientific demonstrations of this fact.

Though a negative something indifference becomes a positive evil. A great lazy river of the plain becomes polluted with disease; the mountain stream opposed by rocks and banks leaps high over all and dashes away pure as the sunbeam and endowed with power. The lazy river cannot turn a millwheel, the mountain stream is a necessity to industry.

Indifference will be cured, when we renew our vision of our God, our mission and the need of the world. Let us arise out of our slumber and be about our Father's business.

Count Ferdinand Von Zeppelin Comments on English Criticism of Germany's Methods.

JUSTIFIES BOMB DROPPING

Declares England Would Do Likewise if She Had Zeppelins—Attempt to Arouse World.

(Note: Following is the first of two interviews ever given out by Count Ferdinand Von Zeppelin the noted inventor of the dirigible named for him.)

Berlin, Feb. 1, (The Hague and London) Feb. 8.—Does anyone for a moment believe that England in her determination to crush Germany by every means in power—ever attempting to starve women and children—wouldn't use Zeppelins if she had them?"

It was Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, creator of German's dreaded fleet of aerial battleships, speaking. This was his answer to protests raised by British enemies against dropping bombs on unfortified places, killing women, and his answer was justification of what had taken place; what will continue to take place while this world war goes on.

"No one regrets more than I do"—and here the voice of the aged soldier—an inventor carried a genuine note of grief that was unmistakable—"that non-combatants have been slain. But have non-combatants been killed by other engines of warfare? Why then, this outcry? Let me tell you. It is because England fears the Zeppelin dirigibles. She realizes that they promise to destroy her splendid isolation; because failing to succeed in building something similar, she hopes to arouse the world to bring pressure to bear to prevent the use by Germany of these great weapons of modern warfare which are unavailing for her own use?"

Though a negative something indifference becomes a positive evil. A great lazy river of the plain becomes polluted with disease; the mountain stream opposed by rocks and banks leaps high over all and dashes away pure as the sunbeam and endowed with power. The lazy river cannot turn a millwheel, the mountain stream is a necessity to industry.

CHARRED BODY FOUND IN RUINS

Greely Ferguson Burns to Death in
Small House at County Poor
Asylum Early Today

BODY HORRIBLY DISFIGURED

Whether Fire Was Accidental or
Suicidal Will Never Be Known.
Had Talked of Suicide

Greely Ferguson, 56 years old, met with a horrible death early this morning at the county asylum when in some unknown manner the small frame shack in which he was sleeping caught fire and the blazing walls collapsed before aid could reach him. Mr. Ferguson was literally burned to pieces and his charred body was almost beyond recognition.

Mr. Ferguson was a well known character here for years, being a tailor by trade. For the last several months he had suffered from cancer and had been an inmate of the county asylum since last October when he went there that he might receive better care. Because of his condition he was given a small house away from the other inmates. The fire was discovered about two-thirty o'clock this morning by one of the inmates and A. N. Newbold, the superintendent was called.

By the time Mr. Newbold and others reached the building the place was a mass of flames and scarcely was the door unlocked when the walls and ceiling collapsed and buried Ferguson in the flames. His body was not taken from the ruins until this morning. Both legs and arms were burned off and the body was badly charred.

Whether the fire was accidental or suicidal will probably never be known, but the inmates state that he had talked of suicide several times. It did not surprise Mr. Newbold as it had been necessary to keep a close watch on Ferguson for some time, because the superintendent was afraid he would do himself badly harm. There was a small stove in the house used by Ferguson and while the blaze could have been accidental, the supposition is that it was not.

Ferguson had been in a serious condition for some time and that he should attempt suicide to end his horrible suffering would seem only natural, it is declared. Mr. Ferguson had lived here all his life and was known as an eccentric character. For a time the fire threatened to spread to the surrounding buildings and the fire department here was notified. The department was ready to go there if any of the buildings caught fire.

Mr. Ferguson is survived by one brother, Elwood Ferguson, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Kate Yuse, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Cicero Matlock of Kokomo, Ind. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the chapel and burial took place in East Hill cemetery.

FALSE ALARM.

The fire department answered a false alarm from box 46, corner of Seventh street and the Big Four railroad Saturday night at eleven o'clock. The company made a fast run but there was nothing doing. The door of the box was found open, as usual.

RESOLUTION PASSES.

A resolution introduced in the state house of representatives Saturday by Representative W. R. Jinnett of this county inviting John Hays Hammond and Dr. John Hill, noted peace advocates, to address the house during their short stay in Indianapolis this week, was passed by the house.

FIRE IS "NIPPED IN BUD"

Men Passing Mrs. Ridlen's House in Arlington Put Out Blaze.

Fire which was discovered in the home of Mrs. John Ridlen in Arlington last Friday afternoon was extinguished before much damage was done. The three-year-old child of Mrs. Ridlen spilled kerosene on the floor and it ignited. The flames spread rapidly but Romeo McFail and Emory Warfield, who chanced to be passing at the time, put out the fire. The wall paper in one room was damaged by water but loss due directly to the fire was very slight.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Samuel Sheppard, Age 69 Years, Ex-pires Suddenly Sunday Morning
Hour After He is Stricken

IN RUSHVILLE LAST FRIDAY

Samuel Sheppard, 69 years old, a well known resident of Arlington, died suddenly Sunday morning at three o'clock at his home there from a cerebral hemorrhage. His sudden death came as a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Sheppard was up and about as usual Saturday and was in this city last Friday. He appeared to be in his usual health Saturday night. He was stricken about two o'clock Sunday morning and died an hour later.

Mr. Sheppard was a member of Company G, Fifty-Second Indiana Volunteers and served throughout the Civil war. Mr. Sheppard is survived by one daughter, Miss Anna Sheppard, who lived with him. The funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the Arlington Methodist church and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery there.

BUYS UP OLD GAS, HEAT AND WATER CO.

Louis C. Lambert Acquires Property for Large Sum of $60.30 at Delinquent Tax Sale.

FRANCHISE STILL IN FORCE

Louis C. Lambert is now the owner, manager, board of directors—in fact, the whole works—of the Rushville Gas, Heat and Water Company. He became owner of this high sounding company this morning at the delinquent tax sale conducted by the county treasurer. The property, which is better known as the old artificial gas company, brought $60.30 at the delinquent tax sale. The gas plant has been idle for many years, but may be a valuable piece of property some day. The franchise, which is perpetual, is still in force.

The sale of property for the taxes, which have not been paid, was the smallest ever held in the history of the county. There were just four pieces offered for sale and Mr. Lambert bought the entire lot. Outside of the gas plant the total sale amounted to only $49.03, which included the delinquency and penalties.

HE URGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

Judge Will M. Sparks Delivers Charge to Grand Jury in Most Vigorous Fashion Today.

WHERE RESPONSIBILITY REST

Refers Especially to Liquor Law Violations in County—Grand Jury Convenes at Once.

Judge Will M. Sparks made a most vigorous charge to the grand jury this morning when the investigating body was called before him. Judge Sparks called particular attention to liquor law violations not only in Rushville but in other parts of the county. After appearing before the judge, the grand jury immediately went into session. What particular things they were investigating could not be learned.

After giving the usual instructions about the duty of the grand jury, Judge Sparks referred to the enforcement of law with regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors. He said conditions in Rushville were bad at the present time. He said that they were much worse than they should be.

He called attention to the fact that the grand jury is not responsible for the law any more than the court is. He pointed out that the laws were passed by the legislature and that the grand jury had nothing to do with the policy of the law. It is simply the duty of the grand jury, he asserted, to enforce the law as they found it.

Judge Sparks said that the grand jury was a part of the court and that it was the duty of the grand jurors to carry out their oath with respect to enforcement of the law. He declared that the responsibility rests just as heavily on the grand jury as it does on the judge.

"I do not know," continued the judge, "whether or not any of you have children, but if you have, you should be interested in Rushville being a clean, decent place for them to visit. If you have no children of your own, you should have the welfare of other people's children at heart. You should also see that the law is enforced on account of your interest as good citizens."

Judge Sparks did not mince words when he gave his instructions. He delivered them in most vigorous fashion, leaving over the top of his desk as he spoke.

It was believed that the grand jury, among other things, would investigate the alleged theft of a wallet containing $180 in twenty dollar bills and notes aggregating four hundred dollars from Martin Kelley December 18, 1914. Brown is now in jail charged with the theft. He was arrested Saturday on an affidavit filed in the circuit court which charged him with the theft.

The members of the grand jury are: U. S. Maffett and Cliff Brown of Rushville township; Isaac Dearinger of Orange, John Ricketts of Noble, R. B. Cook, Jr., of Union and Charles M. Phillips, of Posey, the foreman, Tom Scanlan was appointed bailiff by the court.

SALOONS ARE SERMON TOPICS

Two Ministers Discuss Difference Between "Wet" and "Dry" City in Pulpits Sunday.

NO COMPROMISE, SAYS ONE

A. D. Batchelor Declares, in Commenting on Text, Wages Put in Saloon Bags Are Wasted.

Two Rushville ministers discussed the temperance question in their sermons Sunday. The Rev. A. D. Batchelor of St. Paul's M. E. church points to the business side of the "wet" and "dry" question, in view of the fact that a local option election is likely to be called here soon.

The Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, in discussing the liquor question, declared that the "wets" reach their conclusions by false comparisons. He said that a saloon town was likened with the "blind tiger" town when such should not be the case.

The Rev. C. M. Yoenn, speaking on "Indifference" at the Main Street Christian church, declared that indifference was not unbelief. Excerpts from the sermons follow:

First Baptist

The Rev. S. G. Huntington preaches on the temperance question at the First Baptist church Sunday night at seven o'clock. He said in part:

May I ask why the saloon? It is very clear why the grocery store, the dry goods store, the hardware store, the bakery, the flour mill and so on down the line. We all see the necessity of these. But when it comes to the saloon where is the man who dares say that it, too, is a necessity? If the saloon is a necessity then the opium den then is likewise a necessity. Both are impious frauds, both are a ranking menace to society, both are parasites that live upon the souls of men and both are open gateways leading to the asylum, the penitentiary, the gallows and the electric chair.

True, there are other evils in the world besides the saloon but none is equal. Banish the liquor traffic from our midst and the top root of crime's greatest support will have been severed. Why then the saloon, I ask again? There is no legitimate reason for it at all. If it were possible to separate "graft" and "easy money" from the hellish business it would go begging for promoters.

The liquor business, however, has grown to gigantic proportions in this country. So much so, in fact, that it yields a mighty influence in elections and the enforcement of law; a fact every city, more or less, has learned to its sorrow, Terre Haute.

The damage suit of Frank Richardson colored, against Walter Duke, was dismissed over a week ago, but the fact did not become generally known until today. The case was quietly dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The costs have not yet been paid, however. The case was the outgrowth of the shooting of Richardson by Duke and $3,000 damages was demanded because of the injury.

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

The members of the grand jury are: U. S. Maffett and Cliff Brown of Rushville township; Isaac Dearinger of Orange, John Ricketts of Noble, R. B. Cook, Jr., of Union and Charles M. Phillips, of Posey, the foreman, Tom Scanlan was appointed bailiff by the court.

ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gantner have returned from Pittsburg where they attended the funeral Saturday of her cousin William Lewis. Mr. Lewis was extensively related in Rush county. He was seventy-one years old and was the last of that branch of the Lewis family of which John Lewis, a Revolutionary soldier, was the head.

WINS FIGHT IN THE HOUSE TODAY

Republican Floor Leader Gets Bill Through to Keep Auto License Tax in the County.

POINTS TO HEAVY EXPENSE

Bill For Abolition of Capital Punishment is Reported Favorably—Bill Favoring Saloons.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—Representative Jesse Eschbach, Republican floor leader, won a fight in the house today for his bill providing that automobile license taxes shall be collected and remain in the counties where the owners reside. The majority report of the committee favoring the bill was substituted for the minority report by a vote of 56 to 24. Attempts of foes of the bill to adjourn was defeated.

Representative Sam of Bloomington, representing Brown and Monroe counties, declared that it was right that Brown should get back more automobile taxes than it puts in because motorists from Indianapolis and other counties use its roads.

"We are not very rich in southern Indiana," pleaded Representative Habernickel, opposing the bill.

"When I introduced this bill I did not know which counties pay more than they get back," said Eschbach. "My motive was purely one of economy."

"It cost the state $31,000 to collect $151,000 in the first month of the operation of the present system; $50,000 to collect $429,000 in 1914. The cost would be saved by collecting the tax in the counties."

"By having a permanent license plate with only the year number changing, seventy-five per cent of the cost would be saved."

The bill incidentally would take away some patronage from Secretary of State Cook.

The McCormick bill for the abolition of capital punishment was reported favorably by a house committee.

The Cleary bill for the preservation of ballots for six months after an election was reported favorably by the house elections committee today.

The number of days during which saloons could be open would be increased by a bill introduced by Representative Braumiller, Democratic floor leader, today. It would remove New Year's day, Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday and Discovery day from the list of legal holidays.

A bill of Representative Mc Clas-

DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL TODAY

With Arrival of Two Senators, See Chance of Winning Whenever Roll Call Comes.

EXTRA SESSION LOOMS BIG

(By United Press.)

Washington, Feb. 8.—Administration leaders in the senate ship purchase fight were delighted today at the arrival of Senator Smith of South Carolina. They had given up hopes of seeing him. Senator Newlands of Nevada also reached the battle line today, completing the Democratic side of the senate.

The Democrats were ready this afternoon for a vote whenever they could force one. Even on the motion of the bolting Democrats to send the bill back to a hostile committee they were ready for a roll call. On this motion Senator Kenyon was pledged to vote with the Republicans and a roll call would therefore stand 48 to 48 with the vice-president deciding.

How to Fix Up the Home

By custom February has become one of the great furniture buying months of the year.

Factories and stores offer special inducements to purchasers.

The volume of business is large.

Naturally with the sales of furniture are many disposals of rugs, china, carpets and other household goods.

These February furniture sales are a tribute to the immense power of newspaper advertising.

They were built up with aggressive merchandising and vigorous publicity.

A dull month was made one of the busiest of the merchandising year.

OHIO WOMAN'S DROPSY CURED!

Tells Everybody How This Happy Result as Produced.

Dear Editor:—For a long time I had been suffering from dropsy. I had puffy pouches under my eyes. My feet, ankles and abdomen were swollen to twice their natural size and a huge pressure on the swelling left a white dent which remained for some time. This water often pressed against my heart and caused a smothering sensation. I had severe headaches, continuous tachea, dizzy sensations and rheumatic pains throughout my entire body. The kidneys were off in their action and this poison backed up in my system. In spite of my dieting and the taking of many remedies I obtained no relief.

Finally I was given a few Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets, the new scientific preparation. These did me such good that I at once got a larger size and in a week's time all the swelling, backache, and other symptoms left me like magic. I now feel like a new woman. Lloyd's Tablets deserve all the credit for curing me of the trouble and ridding me of the terrible agony. I advise all to be sure and get from their druggists today, Lloyd's, the kind that cured me and cleanse their kidneys before too late.

IS A VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Theodore Potter, Many Years Leader in Fight Against White Plague, Dies of it

HE STUDIED IN GERMANY

Contracted Dread Disease at Time When a Patient Demanded his Constant Attention

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—Dr. Theodore Potter for many years the leader of the fight against the white plague in Indiana, today died of the dread disease himself. Dr. Potter contracted tuberculosis at a time when a patient demanded his continual attendance. He was fifty-four years old.

"He saved others; himself he cannot save."

Dr. Theodore Potter saved hundreds of lives from the white plague but finally succumbed to the dread disease himself. In nearly every city of the middle west are those whom tuberculosis all but claimed, but who attribute their health to Dr. Potter. While he lay dying his patients were so insistent asking for treatment that it was found necessary to disconnect the home telephone. Unable to allow his own advice, he could not throw off the disease.

With his last breath Dr. Potter continued his fight against disease. He beckoned Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis, and in a barely audible voice said: "Go out and preach prevention."

Probably Dr. Potter has come into contact with more cases of this disease than any other man in the Mississippi Valley. He studied in Germany the Koch theory that this was a germ disease and therefore preventable.

What People Want

Secretary of State Bryan came out here to Indiana and among other things admonished us to hold a constitutional convention. If Mr. Bryan did not read the 1914 returns from Indiana, some of his close friends might have advised him beforehand that what few Hoosier voters did take enough time and energy to vote on the question, the great majority of them were opposed to a constitutional convention. Mr. Bryan's friends, by acquainting him with the facts in advance would have saved him from appearing ridiculous. The people do not want a constitutional convention and Mr. Bryan has always advocated that the people should rule directly.

Republican Activity.

When before in the political history of Indiana were candidates for delegates to a party's state convention in the field more than a year in advance of that convention? This is a common question among Republicans.

Reports are being received at Republican state headquarters in Indianapolis almost daily regarding the activity of candidates for delegates to the next Republican state convention. In one precinct in one eastern Indiana county it is said that six Republicans have already passed the word among their neighbors that they would like to be chosen delegates to the next Republican state convention. The convention seems strong over the state that the next Republican convention will be the

Annual Report on Mortality in United States, Made by Census Bureau, Reveals This Fact

14.1 PER THOUSAND SOULS

Lowest Death Rate Ever Shown in United States Was in 1912

When it Fell to 13.9

Washington, Feb. 8.—The annual report on mortality in the United States, relating to the calendar year 1913, which is soon to be issued by Director Harris, of the Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, will show a death rate of 14.1 per 1,000 estimated population in the registration area of the United States, a slight increase as compared with the rate for 1912. The report was outlined by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, formerly connected with the division of vital statistics, Bureau of the Census, and was prepared under the direction of Richard C. Lappin, of that division.

In May, 1914, the Census Bureau issued a preliminary statement relating to mortality in 1913, but the detailed report contains many features of interest not included in the preliminary announcement.

The total number of deaths (exclusive of stillbirths) in the registration area, which now contains about two-thirds of the population of the United States, was 890,848. The lowest rate ever shown in the bureau's reports was that for 1912, which was 13.9 per 1,000. There has been a marked, though not continuous, decline in the death rate since 1880, when it was 19.8 per 1,000 based on the deaths among 17 per cent of the country's population.

The registration area of the United States, as constituted for the year 1913, consists of 24 states (in one of which, North Carolina, the registration is restricted to municipalities which had 1,000 population or over in 1900), the District of Columbia, and 41 cities in nonregistration states. The states and cities make up this area are those whose registration of deaths has been accepted by the Bureau of the Census as being fairly complete (at least 90 per cent of the total number of deaths), and from which transcripts of the death certificates recorded under the state laws or municipal ordinances were received by the Bureau of the Census.

The estimated population of the registration area in 1913 was 63,298,718. It has grown from six-tenths of 1 per cent of the total land area of the United States in 1880 to 38.6 per cent in 1913, and the proportion of the population living in it has increased from 17 per cent in 1880 to 65.1 per cent in 1913.

Comparative figures for foreign countries are not available for 1913 but in 1912 the only important countries or provinces having lower death rates than the United States were Norway (13.4 per 1,000), England and Wales (13.3), Denmark, (13), the Province of Ontario (12.4) Holland (12.3), Australia (11.2), and New Zealand (8.9).

Following are the death rates per 1,000 population in 1913 for the states included within the registration area: California, 14.5; Colorado, 11.5; Connecticut, 13; Indiana, 13.3; Kentucky, 13.3; Maine, 15.3; Maryland, 16.2; Massachusetts, 15; Michigan, 13.9; Minnesota, 10.4; Missouri, 12.5; Montana, 12; New Hampshire, 17.1; New Jersey, 14.3; New York, 15; North Carolina figures relate only to municipalities having a population of 1,000 or over in 1900), 16.8; Ohio, 13.8; Pennsylvania, 14.6; Rhode Island, 15; Utah, 11; Vermont, 15.8; Virginia, 13.9; Washington, 8.5; Wisconsin, 11.5.

The lowest death rate shown by any registration state was that for Washington (8.5 per 1,000), while New Hampshire's rate (17.1) was the highest. The fact that the average age of Washington's population is much lower than that of New Hampshire's doubtless constitutes the chief reason for this difference; and a like explanation holds good in many similar cases.

Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.
No Dosing.

No need to take internal medicines or habit forming drugs for these troubles. When Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve is applied to the heat of the body, soothing, medicated vapors are released that are inhaled all night long through the air passages to the lungs. In addition, Vick's is absorbed through the skin, relieving the tightness and soreness.

Vick's can be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth—or a little put up the nostril—or melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors arising. Also for Asthma and Hay Fever, rub Vick's well over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

Read This Letter:
"Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect."

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

holes he will be able to make better provision for his family. Reliable statistics associate poverty of the direct kind with the liquor business. A large per cent of poverty is directly traceable to drink. This means that a burden of charity is placed upon the community by the saloon. While a poor weak drunkard is spending all his wages with the saloon, good people in the community are feeding and clothing his family. I know of a man who was a hard drinker. He spent $5.00 a week with the saloon. After 98 weeks with the saloons out he figured that he had saved $490. With this he bought clothes, shoes and food. He confessed that after this when he went home to his little family he did not find them peeping out at the window or around the corners of the house to see whether he was crazed with drink, but that they met him with outstretched arms. This same man also said, "If anyone thinks I want the saloons back, they can find my wish in the ballot box." I know of a man in Montana, where I used to live, who spent nearly all his wages with a certain saloon keeper. One day this saloon keeper told him how much money he deposited in the bank each day. This made the drinker think. He said to himself, "Why cannot I deposit my own money and to my own credit, instead of giving it to the saloon keeper to deposit to his credit?" Henceforth he cut out the drink, and began to save his wages. A friend who told me the incident asked him what effect this had upon his wife. "Why," he said "she is so happy since I quit. When I go home and she sees me she just laughs and laughs." When we think about this temperance proposition we discover that it has its business reasons. Governor Stubbs of Kansas said in regard to statutory prohibition in his state, "Reason was at the bottom of it. As a result the Kansas people are better fed, better clothed, have finer homes, larger families and better bank accounts." Instead of putting their wages into a "bag filled with holes," they save them in Kansas and use them to better purpose.

Main Street Christian

Speaking on the subject "Indifference" and using as a text Rev. 3:16 the Rev C. M. Yocum said in part at the Main Street Christian church yesterday:

Indifference is not opposition. The indifferent are not opposed to the church and its mission. They would resent any such accusation as that. Indeed indifference has not enough energy to oppose. It sits idly by and is satisfied no matter which way the wind blows.

Indifference is not unbelief. The indifferent are often sticklers for doctrine. The indifferent are not necessarily sinful in the usual acceptance of that term. They may be morally free from taint and be clean and pure.

Indifference is a lack of positive interest in the church and its welfare. He is indifferent who is unconcerned, apathetic, heedless. I go to find a sack of grain to plant in a field. I find one full of filth and one empty. One is sinful, the other indifferent. Both are worthless. God wants good seed to sow in his field. He can use neither the vile nor the empty. I do not say each is equally bad; I say each is equally worthless.

Indifference makes the church stagnant. Opposition causes the church to grow. It has always been so. The persecutions at Jerusalem were responsible for the spread of the early church. Appositions causes the blood to boil, the nerves to tingle, puts us on edge and develops us. But indifference makes the church apathetic and stagnant. A church fired by foes without will grow and become mighty; filled with indifference within it stagnates, becomes useless and dies. Useless things always die. It is a law of life that we must use or loose. There are numerous scientific demonstrations of this fact.

Though a negative something indifference becomes a positive evil. A great lazy river of the plain becomes polluted with disease; the mountain stream opposed by rocks and banks leaps high over all and dashes away pure as the sunbeam and endowed with power. The lazy river cannot turn a millwheel, the mountain stream is a necessity to industry.

Indifference will be cured, when we renew our vision of our God, our mission and the need of the world. Let us arise out of our slumber and be about our Father's business.

Count Ferdinand Von Zeppelin Comments on English Criticism of Germany's Methods.

JUSTIFIES BOMB DROPPING

Declares England Would Do Likewise if She Had Zeppelins—
Attempt to Arouse World.

(Note: Following is the first of two interviews ever given out by Count Count Von Zeppelin the noted inventor of the dirigible named for him.)

Berlin, Feb. 1, (The Hague and London) Feb. 8.—Does anyone for a moment believe that England in her determination to crush Germany by every means in power—ever attempting to starve women and children—wouldn't use Zeppelins if she had them?"

It was Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, creator of German's dreaded fleet of aerial battleships, speaking. This was his answer to protests raised by British enemies against dropping bombs on unfortified places, killing women, and his answer was justification of what had taken place; what will continue to take place while this world war goes on.

"No one regrets more than I do—and here the voice of the aged soldier—an inventor carried a genuine note of grief that was unmistakable—"that non-combatants have been slain. But have non-combatants been killed by other engines of warfare? Why then, this outcry? Let me tell you. It is because England fears the Zeppelin dirigibles. She realizes that they promise to destroy her splendid isolation; because failing to succeed in building something similar, she hopes to arouse the world to bring pressure to bear to prevent the use by Germany of these great weapons of modern warfare which are unavailable for her own use?"
